Credit for recognised learning
If you have completed a Graduate Certificate in Human Resources from Curtin, you will receive 100 credit points towards this course.

Duration
This course comprises eight units and can be completed in one year full-time or equivalent part-time study.

Study mode
On-campus. Some evening classes.

Intakes
February and July.

Location
Bentley, Western Australia.

Course fees and expenses
Course fee information can be found by searching for your postgraduate course at courses.curtin.edu.au. You may also be expected to purchase a number of textbooks, readers and other essential study materials.

Course information
This course is suitable if you have graduated from a field other than human resources (HR), or if you are a professional in HR and want to enhance your understanding and skills in human resources and industrial relations.

The Graduate Diploma in Human Resources is designed to help you gain a recognised, industry-accredited qualification, acquire practical skills for an in-demand industry, develop knowledge and expertise in specialised areas, and learn from internationally recognised HR academics.

On successful completion you may choose to progress to the Master of Human Resources.

Professional recognition
Curtin Business School (CBS) courses in human resources are accredited by the Australian Human Resources Institute (AHRI). AHRI accreditation ensures consistency across human resources qualifications in Australian universities as well as being the mark of a quality human resources degree. On graduation you are eligible to apply for membership to the Australian Human Resources Institute.

Curtin Business School is an accredited member of AACSB International - the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business.
Industry connections
Maintaining strong links with industry is critical to ensuring that we are serving the needs of both our students and the workforce. CBS has established a network of advisory boards - groups of industry representatives who support the school by providing invaluable business knowledge and influencing our courses to help ensure that you are industry-ready on graduation.

As part of our courses we may incorporate guest lectures by HR professionals, real-life practical assignments and case studies, as well as industry networking opportunities.
